JUDGMENT

First petitioner is the senior accountant of the 1st respondent Bank. Second petitioner is the employees union. Ext.P1 is stated to be the transfer norms. Petitioners case is that there is violation of the norms.

I heard learned counsel for the petitioners and the learned counsel for respondents 1 to 3. I feel that if the first petitioner or the employees who are members of the second petitioner association has any grievance arising out of transfer, it is for them to approach the authority under Section 69 of the Kerala Co-operative Societies Act. Accordingly, the writ petition is disposed of directing that if the first petitioner or any other employees of the first respondent Bank approaches the authority under Section 69, the authority under Section 69 will take a decision thereon with full opportunity to the parties as expeditiously as possible. It is certainly open to the first petitioner or any other employee to highlight the complaint of violation of Ext.P1 norms before the authority.

(K.M.JOSEPH, JUDGE)
